Do You Know a Child with Special Needs Having a Hard Time in Religious School? The Council Inclusion Consultants Are Available to Help

For the past 25 years, the Council For Jews With Special Needs has provided educational services to all Jewish preschools, day schools and congregational weekend schools in our community. Children who have an identified disability or struggle with their Judaic or Hebrew studies may benefit from the Council's assistance. With parental permission, our special education teachers visit the classroom, observe the student and share their observations with the parents and teacher. Recommendations may be made to implement accommodations to address learning difficulties. For more information, contact the school director or Becca Hornstein at becca@cjsn.org or 480-629-5343.

Funding for this program provided by a generous grant from the law firm of Jaburg|Wilk.
